Sweet talker

THERE was no sugar-coating the harmful effects of too much sugar when a celebrity chef visited a Haringey primary school.

Michelin-starred Tom Aikens took part in a special cookery class and shared healthy eating tips with pupils at Stamford Hill school, in Vartry Road, South Tottenham, last Wednesday.

He was there to help launch the Sugar Smart app-free software that helps parents see how much sugar there is in everyday food and drink by scanning barcodes.

Excessive consumption by youngsters increases the risk of obesity and life-threatening problems, such as heart disease and diabetes.

The school is a member of Haringey Obesity Alliance, which tackles childhood obesity and encourages pupils to stay healthy through increased PE sessions and boosting numbers attending its free healthy breakfast club.

"We all know that children eat too much sugar, so it's great that the Changed4Life Sugar Smart campaign offers helpful tips for parents on how to cut down," said headteacher Kathleen O'Sullivan.

"The new Food Detectives lesson plans provide a great way of getting children thinking about how much sugar is in the everyday food and drink we all consume," she added.

LEVY PLAN IN BID TO BOOST ADULT CARE

Households may be charged £24 a year on top of council tax

By Russ Lawrence

russ.lawrence@nlhnews.co.uk

THE average Haringey household could be required to pay an extra £24 a year to the cash-strapped council from April to help fund adult care services in the borough.

The Labour-controlled local authority is considering the special levy, which is separate from council tax, because of the unprecedented cuts to its central government funding.

Some adult care services have already been axed and others could follow as part of a raft of £24.5million of savings by the council, which needs to make £70m of cuts by 2018. Its government funding will have been slashed from £400m in 2010 to £210m in 2018.

That, it says, makes meeting demand for essential services, including looking after older people and vulnerable adults, more "challenging than ever".

The council is currently seeking views on its proposal as part of a public consultation on its budget plans for 2016/17.

It is proposing freezing council tax for a seventh year, but introducing a separate two per cent precept which the government has told councils they can levy as long as its earmarked for adult care.

The increase would cost the average Haringey household an extra 46p per week and raise about £1.7m each year.

The additional revenue from a social care precept will not be enough, warns the council, to prevent some services from closing or changing, but may help meet demand while services

Rethinking services:
Councillor Jason Arthur

are redesigned. Jason Arthur, cabinet member for resources and culture, said: "Significant cuts required in our adult social services budget mean we have to rethink services and close some of them entirely.

"While it's important to make clear that the extra income from levying the two per cent precept would not be enough to prevent some services from closing, it could help us to meet rising demand in the short term.

"What is clear is that extensive changes to adult social care in Haringey – with a greater emphasis on early help, independent living and community-based support – remain the only long-term way of managing demand," he added.

The public's views on the consultation will be considered at next month's meetings of the council's cabinet and full council.

Backing for rail route via palace

CROSSRAIL 2's proposed Alexandra Palace and Turnpike Lane route is favoured by residents over the Wood Green station option, according to a survey by Haringey Liberal Democrats.

The revised proposals, in a third public consultation by Transport for London, included a new section between Seven Sisters and New Southgate stations, with trains stopping at Wood Green station, instead of Alexandra Palace and Turnpike Lane, and running the £2.7billion line to Tottenham Hale, via a spur from Seven Sisters.

The expanded regional route would serve central London through 32 kilometres of twin tunnels between Wimbledon, to the south, and Tottenham Hale and New Southgate, connecting with existing national rail networks in Surrey and Hertfordshire.

Haringey Lib Dems supported the Alexandra Palace/Turnpike Lane route after conducting a survey, which showed that 78.5 per cent of residents who responded favoured that option compared to 21.5 per cent who backed the Wood Green route

It would, say the Lib Dems, provide enhanced transport links to Alexandra Palace and revitalise the Turnpike Lane area.

Concerns were raised about proposals for a construction shaft in Downhills Park, Tottenham, with the Lib Dems urging an alternative location on brownfield sites in the area to be considered.

"We are backing the Alexandra Palace route because we want to see the palace flourish and we believe Turnpike Lane needs regeneration," said Gail Engert, leader of the Lib Dem opposition on Haringey Council.

"That is a view backed by local residents who responded to our survey," she added.

Subject to funding being obtained and the green light being given, construction on Crossrail 2 could begin by 2020, with the first trains running by 2030.

Safe crossing boost

Campaigner upbeat after meeting officers

Encouraged: Alison Paing

By Ruth McKee

ruth.mckee@nlhnews.co.uk

A MUM at the head of a road safety campaign for a crossing point to be installed at a busy four-way junction is delighted that council chiefs are taking steps to put her ideas in place.

Alison Paing, of Parsonage Gardens, Enfield, runs a design company in Enfield and last month launched the bid for a pelican crossing at the intersection of Parsonage Lane, Silver Street and Baker Street to make it safer for children walking to and from the schools in the area.

She walks her own six-year-old daughter, Cornelia, to St Andrew's Primary school, in Churchbury Lane, on her way to work in Chase Side. After seeing how children are put at risk she decided action must be taken.

And last week she set up a meeting between parents, residents and council chiefs to discuss the practicalities of installing a proper crossing.

"The meeting went really well," she said. "We had a great response from the people who turned out and the council officers. We had the director of investment from Enfield Council with one of his team there."

Currently traffic flows in all directions. There is no zebra crossing or pelican crossing – there are only traffic islands in between each lane of traffic – meaning it can take pedestrians a long time to cross the road.

"But as well as the time it takes, it is the huge danger," said Alison. "With so many children on scooters, it is so easy for them to whizz out quickly and we are all terrified that one day a child will go out in front of a car."

"With the volume of traffic, it is a difficult junction for drivers to navigate – so they are concentrating on taking their turn to turn right or left and are rarely looking for small children or for parents pushing buggies."

She is pleased that the council had already taken on board the concerns and are in the process of undertaking a feasibility study into setting up a proper, safe crossing point for the children.

"We will be just happy with a proper, safe crossing and while we know that this feasibility study could take some time we are happy that everything seems to be moving forward," she added.

Concern grows for missing Enfield teenager

A 13-YEAR-OLD boy has been missing from Enfield since before the weekend and there are growing fears for his well-being.

Police are becoming increasingly concerned for Felix-Ciprian Ursu, who was last seen at his home address in Lincoln Way at 7.30am on Friday.

The youngster is of Romanian origin and is 5ft tall with dark hair.

The teenager was wearing a distinctive pair of yellow and black trainers and was carrying a white bag and a creamy-coloured rucksack.

Officers believe his last known location was Victoria station later on that morning.

His family and police are becoming increasingly concerned as he is inappropriately dressed for cold weather.

Anyone with information on his whereabouts is asked to call the police non-emergency line on 101 – quoting "16MIS002053".

Young actors set for the big screen

TWO young actors have won roles in films set to hit the big screens next year, while another is appearing on the West End stage.

Emily Tasker, nine, won a role in Warner Brothers' The Conjuring 2, which tells the story of the 1970s' Enfield poltergeist. Graeme Road, Enfield, was used for filming and scenes were also shot at Enfield Grammar School. Emily won her role through the Enfield branch of the Pauline Quirke Academy of Performing Arts, based at Highlands School, in Worlds End Lane, Winchmore Hill, and was encouraged to try acting even though her first love is singing.

She said: "When I first joined, I was just proud of my singing skills, but as we started many different topics in acting, I found that singing wasn't the only thing I could do."

The film is due for release in June.

Another actor from the academy, Briana Shann, ten, has won a role in Ken Loach's new film I, Daniel Blake, about a joiner whose sickness forces him to seek help.

She is playing the part of Daisy, the daughter of single mum Katie, played by Hayley Squires, of Call

The Midwife fame, who has to move 300 miles from London to start a new life. The film was shot in Newcastle.

Eight-year-old Jack Forino, who also attends the drama school, is currently performing in Billy Elliot The Musical at the Victoria Palace Theatre.

He said: "I am very proud of getting the part. The rehearsals were hard work, but very rewarding and great fun. All the people I have met helped me learn and prepare for my role. My opening night was amazing."

UK's top cardinal gives his blessing to St Anne's school

By Russ Lawrence

russ.lawrence@nlhnews.co.uk

THE head of the Catholic church in the UK performed a special blessing when he officially opened a new £2.18million sixth-form centre in Enfield yesterday afternoon.

Cardinal Vincent Nichols was at St Anne's High School for Girls, in Oakthorpe Road, Palmers Green.

After attending mass and delivering his blessing, the cardinal toured the stunning new facility and seemed suitably impressed.

The centre was built with £1m the school secured from the government following a successful joint bid with Enfield Council and an additional £1.18m from the Roman Catholic Diocese of Westminster's Education Service.

It has a large multi-purpose area, which can be used as a common room for study, year assemblies and lectures. Other rooms are equipped with private study desks, to accommodate computers and lighting.

Other features include classrooms with facilities for split seminars, a media suite and space for students to hear visiting speakers from businesses and professions.

"It offers the best facilities possible for our sixth-formers," said headteacher Siobhan Gilling.

"Our graphics students took an active role in the planning and design of this centre. They met with governors and architects and were able to select furnishings and colour schemes.

"We have achieved fantastic A-level and GCSE results in recent years and these new facilities will help us to build on this success.

"This new centre will improve and enhance the learning environment for our students," she added.

Ayfer Orhan, cabinet member for education, children's services and protection, said the council had worked closely with the school, its governing body, the Diocese of Westminster and consultants to ensure the centre helped to maintain excellent teaching standards and learning.

"The enthusiasm for this centre is a sign that the whole school is continuing to aim for and achieve excellence and is contributing to the council's plans to raise achievements for all young people," she added.

Patients offered massage as part of their treatment

PUTTING the "treat" into "treatment" at Chase Farm Hospital is a new service offering patients a soothing massage.

Thousands of patients have benefited over the years from the complementary therapy at Barnet Hospital, another of the hospitals run by the Royal Free London NHS Trust, and from last week the service has been extended to Chase Farm, in The Ridgeway, Enfield.

Funded by the hospital's charity, a team of masseuses will help patients cope better with their illnesses by reducing pain and easing anxiety. Keith Hunt, who leads the team, said massage complemented medical treatment and most patients could benefit from it.

"At Chase Farm we will be starting with oncology and haematology patients and also rehabilitation patients to provide some gentle massage.

"All treatments are carried out with the relaxing Swedish method, with no depth and no pressure points used. It's a repetitive stroke and in just 15 minutes a difference can be felt. The sessions are free to patients, who will be referred to us by staff."

One of the first to receive a massage from therapist Jill Alexander was chemotherapy patient Chris Sterakides.

"When I came in for my chemo, I was stiff in my neck and it's really helped," he said. "I think patients will be really up for a massage."

If you are a denture wearer then this article may be of some interest to you!
If you can relate to any of the following questions then it is a sign your denture needs attention:

- DO YOU FIND YOUR DENTURES:
- Do not fit as well on your gums as they used to?
 - Are they loose?
 - Do not cut food as well as they used to?
 - Do they make your face look older?
 - Have discoloured despite meticulous cleaning or
 - Cause discomfort/pain on chewing?

If any of the above breeds familiar territory then I may be able to alleviate some of these problems for you.

My name is Caroline Persaud I am a qualified CLINICAL DENTAL TECHNICIAN. Many of you may be aware of Dental Technicians/Mechanics who repair and produce dentures for dentists, however, due to recent changes in the Dental law, a group of Dental Care Professionals known as Clinical Dental Technicians have been approved by the General Dental Council and can now see denture wearers who have no natural teeth remaining, directly without having to visit a dentist.

The advantages to you, the patients, are numerous. You can be treated by a professional who has been clinically trained to undertake the impressions of your mouth and who also has the technical skill to manufacture your denture to meet your requirements.

Enfield five await sentencing over the

By Julia Gregory

julia.gregory@nlhnews.co.uk

FIVE Enfield residents are facing jail for their involvement in the "largest burglary in English legal history" following the end of the two-month-long Hatton Garden jewel heist trial last Thursday.

Two other Enfield residents – among the dozen in total charged with various roles in the robbery – entered not guilty pleas which were accepted by the court.

Two of the ringleaders, Enfield residents Danny Jones and Terry Perkins, had earlier pleaded guilty to the burglary and played key parts in the £13million raid last Easter.

They were part of a gang who spent months planning the burglary at a safe deposit company used by jewellers in central London's diamond quarter.

They broke into safe deposit boxes brimming with jewels, bullion and cash.

Last week a jury at Woolwich Crown Court found two other men guilty of involvement in the raid and convicted Enfield plumber Hugh Doyle of concealing criminal property.

Jones and Perkins joined forces with Dartford man Brian Reader, who was convicted for his role in disposing of gold after the £26m Brink's-Mat raid, near Heathrow Airport in 1983.

Reader was cleared with Kenny Noye of murdering undercover policeman John Fordham, who was investigating the Brink's-Mat robbery.

Last week Detective Chief Superintendent Tom Manson, of the

Waiting to be sentenced: Danny Jones and Terry Perkins, who admitted burglary, and Hugh Doyle, convicted of concealing criminal property

Met's organised crime command, described the ringleaders as "dangerous criminals".

Jones and Perkins were involved in planning meetings in the run-up to the Hatton Garden raid and both men worked through two nights helping to take an estimated £13m from 73 security boxes in the vaults of Hatton Garden Safe Deposit.

Police believe Jones, of Park Avenue, Bush Hill Park, who has run marathons in extreme climates, managed to climb through the hole the gang drilled 51 centimetres through the vault wall before passing out the contents to Perkins.

After the raid Jones was recorded on undercover police tapes boasting to Perkins, of Heene Road, Enfield, about their criminal exploits – "the biggest cash robbery in history and now the biggest tom (rhyming slang for tomfoolery, jewellery) history in the fing world, and what a book you could write, fing hell."

Perkins turned 67 over the Easter weekend in a case of history repeating itself. On his 35th birthday he was involved in the Security Express robbery at Shoreditch, which yielded a record-breaking haul of £6m.

However, the gang hit an obstacle at Hatton Garden when a pump they used to get to the cabinet containing the deposit boxes failed.

Jones and another key gang member, John "Kenny Collins", headed to tool shops in Twickenham, south-west London, to buy a replacement.

It is thought that Reader got cold feet when the equipment failed.

Despite disabling alarms and CCTV at the deposit company, some of their movements were captured on CCTV.

A breakthrough in the investigation came when the Flying Squad identified Collins's distinctive white Mercedes and police planted covert surveillance equipment in the cars of Collins and Perkins.

Together with mobile phone site evidence and automatic number plate recognition, they began to piece together the evidence.

Detective Constable Jamie Day said a key moment came on May 15 after Collins, Reader, Jones and Perkins met for drinks and dinner in Islington.

"On the way home, having had a bit of alcohol, they were a bit more fluid in their discussions," he said – and detectives knew the gang were keen to dispose of their loot.

Jones hid precious gemstones and gold in family plots in Edmonton cemetery, while Perkins paid for his daughter 35-year-old Terri Robinson, to go on holiday, concealing jewels at her home in Sterling Road, Enfield.

Last week she pleaded guilty to conspiracy to conceal criminal property and will be sentenced in March, together with her sister's partner Brenn Walters, 44, also known as Brenn Perkins, from Manor Court, Enfield.

Dublin-born Doyle, of Riverside Gardens, Enfield, was drawn into the net by Collins, who wanted a discreet spot to move his share of the loot.

Doyle, who runs his own plumbing and heating business, gave Collins the key to his workshop at the back of the Old Wheatsheaf pub, off Windmill Hill, Enfield.

Police believe the gang planned to use the workshop – but they did a "boot to boot" transfer in the car park on May 19 after Doyle made sure employees had left the workshop.

Crime scene: The hole the gang drilled through the vault wall; right, the alarm wire was cut

The police swooped minutes later after gang members arrived in Sterling Road, where detectives found bags stashed with jewels.

In an undercover recording before the arrests, Jones said: "At least we can hold our heads up that we had a last go."

What the jury decided...

FOUR men had admitted burglary at Hatton Garden last Easter.

They are Terry Perkins, 67, of Heene Road, Enfield, Danny Jones, 58, of Park Avenue Bush Hill Park, John "Kenny" Collins, 75, of Islington, north London, and Brian Reader, 76, from Dartford, Kent.

A jury took just over six hours to convict Hugh Doyle, 48, of Riverside Gardens, Enfield, of concealing, converting or transferring criminal property. He was cleared of conspiracy to conceal stolen property. He is considering an appeal.

William Lincoln, 60, of Bethnal Green, east London, and Carl Wood, 58, Elderbeck Close, Cheshunt, pictured, were found guilty of conspiracy to burgle and conspiracy to conceal, convert or transfer criminal property.

The seven men will be sentenced over three days at Woolwich Crown Court beginning on March 7.

The jury cleared taxi driver Jon Harbinson, 42, from Benfleet, Essex, of the burglary and conspiracy charges.

Brenn Walters, 44, of Manor Court, Enfield, and Terri

Robinson, 35, of Sterling Road, Enfield, pleaded guilty to conspiracy to conceal, convert or transfer criminal property and will be sentenced later in March.

Stephen Robinson, 46, of Sterling Road, Enfield, and Laura Perkins, 40, of Manor Court, Enfield, had not guilty pleas to a charge of conspiracy to conceal stolen property accepted at a hearing last week and the charges against them were dropped.

Some of the £13million haul was unearthed in cemetery

By Julia Gregory

julia.gregory@nlhnews.co.uk

DETECTIVES have recovered a third of the estimated £13million of the haul the gang grabbed at Hatton Garden – including loot hidden in two plots in Edmonton cemetery.

They uncovered two sealed bags containing “a large quantity of jewellery” and precious stones hidden at a memorial plot they searched in the cemetery, off Church Street, last October.

A week later Danny Jones, who has a history of involvement in armed robbery, was allowed out of prison and led police officers to a bag filled with gold and jewellery and envelopes containing precious stones.

An earlier search of Jones's home, in Park Avenue, Bush Hill Park, yielded facemasks, a drill and uncounted money. Police also found a copy of the book Forensics for Dummies and examined Jones's computer, which he had used to search for specific drilling equipment back in 2012.

Detectives who searched Terry Perkins's home, in Heene Road Enfield, after his arrest discovered jewellery and cash along with blue overalls, five sets of white fabric gloves and euros.

The jury of six men and six

Under surveillance: Terry Perkins and Danny Jones arriving in Sterling Road, Enfield, a few days before they were arrested women studied CCTV images of Chase Green as John “Kenny Collins” turned up to talk to Hugh Doyle at his workshop near the Old Wheatsheaf pub, in Windmill Hill, Enfield, on May 18 last year.

Father-of-two Doyle, who runs Associated Response from the workshop, was seen talking to Collins. A bug in Collins's car recorded him saying he'd get rid of a colleague.

“I'll tell him to get a coffee or something,” he said.

Doyle told the jury he did not want to embarrass the employee as he wanted a private chat with Collins.

The following day just before the loot was transferred, CCTV captured Jones and Collins pulling up at the car park together. Bill Lincoln arrived and the trio walked towards Doyle's workshop.

The plumber was seen talking to the men and patted Jones's shoulder as the three men walked away from him.

Shortly afterwards Doyle and his employee headed towards a company vehicle. Doyle stopped to check something and then the duo drove off.

The prosecution said he was trying to get employees and his partner Jenny Fraser, who does company administration, out of the way.

He told the court he was not trying to clear the area and took his employee to a lettings agency in Baker Street, Enfield, to collect a cheque and bank it.

Ms Fraser said she had no idea there was anyone around.

After the coast was clear, Collins drove his Mercedes into the car park. Another car arrived and Jones and Lincoln transferred the bags to Collins's car.

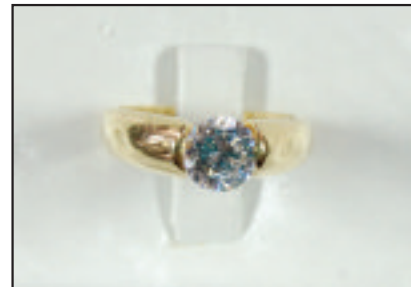

When Jones and Collins arrived at a house in Sterling Road, Enfield, where Terri Robinson, Perkins's daughter, lived, police knew they could catch them red-handed.

Inside the Aladdin's cave, they found three bags of jewels, jewellers' equipment and small bags containing precious stones on the dining room table, a smelting machine and a bag full of tools.

The haul also included two rings with price tags of £15,000, Omega, Tag Heuer, Breitling and Rolex watches, rings, earrings, necklaces, bangles and brooches.

So far police have returned 2,400 items worth £3m to some of the 40 victims and are still sifting through 2,600 items.

The whereabouts of the rest, as well as the identity of the mystery man “Basil”, who let some of the gang into Hatton Garden, remains a mystery.

Flat pack homes proposal to ease housing shortage

FLAT pack homes could be popping up across the borough if Enfield Council's latest plan to tackle the housing shortage gets the go-ahead.

In a report to be submitted to the cabinet tonight (Wednesday), officers have recommended that councillors should give the green light to plans for "flexible, quick-build housing" to help ease the pressure.

If the cabinet approves the plans, Enfield will be the first borough in the capital to use building techniques, involving quick assemblage of pre-made structures to help reduce the rising bill for temporary accommodation.

The officers' report states: "At the end of September 2015, Enfield was ranked fifth highest nationally for the number of families in temporary accommodation, equating to 2,930 families, most of which are housed in the private rented sector."

The report adds that the demand for temporary accommodation is likely to rise, putting financial pressures on the local authority as temporary accommodation costs millions every year.

Emergency accommodation rates are set by private sector landlords, who know that the council has to pay, so it can fulfil its statutory duty towards those classed as homeless.

The report adds: "Flexible housing can take a number of forms including temporary, relocatable modular accommodation. This will also enable the council to make use of under-utilised sites."

A council spokesman stressed that councillors have not ratified the proposals and until they do so he could not provide details on where or how the modern-day pre-fabs might materialise.

Boris calls for more talks over Cycle Enfield scheme

By Ruth McKee

ruth.mckee@nlhnews.co.uk

THE Mayor of London has told one of the borough's MPs that he is halting the Mini-Holland cycle scheme, but has left council chiefs in the dark about his plans.

Boris Johnson has written to Enfield Southgate MP David Burrowes saying he had ordered the council to go through another round of discussion with businesses and residents in Palmers Green.

The mayor made his intervention this week after the Conservative MP presented him with the results of his "referendum".

Last week Mr Burrowes announced that after sending out postcards to 17,000 of his constituents in Palmers Green, Winchmore Hill, Grange Park and Southgate Green, of the 2,828 returned to him 75 per cent were opposed to the cycle scheme along Green Lanes.

He then demanded a meeting with Mr Johnson, who awarded £30million to the borough in 2012 after council chiefs impressed City Hall with their vision for the borough.

Mr Burrowes said last week he would be meeting the mayor to urge him to take the money for the improvement works back.

Intervention: Boris Johnson has written to MP David Burrowes

Mr Johnson, in a letter, told Mr Burrowes, the scheme will now be stalled while further engagement work is carried out.

The mayor said: "We agreed in our discussion it was important for Enfield that the scheme is not moved forward to the next formal approval stage until the borough engages more extensively and intensively with businesses and residents. It is clear that more discussion is crucial."

Mr Burrowes has told residents that this means all plans are on hold for two months. However, a spokesman for Mr Johnson stressed that this had not been formalised and it was more likely to be a period of a few weeks.

A spokesman for the mayor's office told the Advertiser: "This isn't about a change of direction, it's about taking a little more time to bring about the widest consensus."

"The mayor and his cycling commissioner remain fully committed to the Mini-Holland scheme in Enfield."

But while City Hall believes the process is on hold for more conversation, the council chiefs behind the scheme insist they have heard nothing about putting a temporary stop to their plans.

Daniel Anderson, the council's cabinet member for environment, said: "We are aware of the contents of the letter – but have received no communication from the Mayor of London about halting any part of the approval process for Cycle Enfield and have made no agreement that we will do so."

"We are about to make a decision on a revised proposal for the A105 Cycle Enfield scheme. Preliminary analysis indicates this will not only enhance our town centres, but also reduce pressure on our roads, create safer streets, improve air quality for our residents and create a healthier more connected community."

Facing demolition: 3 Wellington Road is just outside the conservation area

Campaigner in battle to save Victorian house

By Ruth McKee

ruth.mckee@nlhnews.co.uk

A RESIDENT of a conservation area has launched a battle to preserve a 19th-century mansion from being razed to the ground and replaced with flats.

Gillian Porter, a telecoms manager, of Queen Anne's Place, Bush Hill Park, has started a petition on change.org in a bid to save 3 Wellington Road from the clutches of property developers who already have their eyes on the property.

"For some reason, number 3 lies just outside of the conservation area for Bush Hill Park, but it would be such a shame if we lost this building," she told the Advertiser.

"It dates from the 1880s and adds such character to the area. If we lost this beautiful building to make way for yet more flats, the whole point of conserving the unique character of the area would be lost."

When she saw that Fusion Developments had submitted a planning application to Enfield Council to demolish the building and build a three-storey block containing six two-bed flats and two three-bed flats, with attached parking and terraces on the site, she felt she had to take a stand.

Her petition had attracted 517 electronic signatures by yesterday afternoon and she is hoping that the very act of setting up the petition will alert people to the danger of letting their local history be eroded by property developers.

In a letter of protest she sent to the council's planning department, she wrote: "3 Wellington Road is one of the few remaining Victorian houses built in the 1880s in this street.

"Sadly, many of the other houses over the years have been knocked down and replaced with featureless buildings and it would be a shame if 3 Wellington Road was to suffer the same fate."

Gillian describes herself as an "accidental activist" and at this stage she is unsure as to whether she will make a deputation to the planning committee when the application is put before them later this year.

Residents can still have their say on the proposals via the council's planning portal <http://planningandbuildingcontrol.enfield.gov.uk/online-applications> and people have until February 4 to submit their comments on the proposals.

The application is expected to be decided upon by early March.

The Advertiser approached Fusion Developments for comment. However, at the time of going to press, no one from the company had been able to provide a comment.

Cloudy2Clear Windows – Service With A Smile!

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Managing Director Richard Power feels that it's all about service. "Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 10 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done. We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole."

Cloudy2Clear service the Enfield, Edmonton, Palmers Green, Winchmore Hill & Southgate areas and Richard is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success. "The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated."

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give Richard a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

Columnist

Terry Neville

Enfield Council Conservative group leader

WHILE I am happy to see improved cycling provision, the Cycle Enfield plans are unworkable and the consultation processes have been shambolic.

The much vaunted partnership boards, which were supposed to guide scheme design, excluded any voice for residents – and once all the major decisions had been taken, the council then decided to let a token handful of residents take part.

As a consequence, we have the ill-thought-out schemes we currently see.

Consultation has to be online despite some in our community not being tech-savvy. Not to worry, they can have a hard copy, but only if they make a request for one. Even their elected representatives were denied the opportunity to distribute hard copies.

Then we discover that if you manage to submit online, your vote will be counted irrespective of where you live.

In the results for the A105 (Green Lanes), 260 – some 15.5 per cent of all responses – were counted, even though most didn't live in the borough and 43 didn't even live in London.

The councillor responsible for this mess, Daniel Anderson, publicly claims great support for the A105 plans, but when I drill down the figures via Freedom of Information requests, a different picture emerges.

Finally, on Enfield Town we discover that after strong opposition from business, the London Cycling Campaign sends out an SOS for "yes" votes.

I call on the leader of the council to halt this shambles forthwith, go back to the drawing board and give the Enfield public what it wants rather than what faceless unelected bureaucrats are seeking to force on them.

Where was hospital parking barrier?

OVER the Christmas period, I had to attend Chase Farm Hospital to be seen at the non-urgent clinic.

Given that I was in extreme pain, I parked in the hospital parking – and was surprised to see that there was no parking barrier as had been the case when I had last been at Chase Farm.

Believing that the parking fees had been suspended, I attended the clinic and was offered a great level of service, and was asked to come back later in the day to see the out-of-hours GP as I needed a prescription for pain relief.

I was later seen by the GP at Chase

Farm and received the prescription that I needed.

Subsequently, I received two letters from Gemini parking services demanding a £200 payment for non-payment of parking fees at Chase Farm Hospital.

Naturally, I attempted to speak to the company, but they refused, saying that I had to write or email them to request exemption from the fees.

As you can guess, I am outraged that my local hospital has allowed this company to take over the parking at Chase Farm and condone the issuing of £100 fines for people like myself making a genuine mistake.

I feel that the removal of the ticket barrier is a scam to let people believe that there are no parking fees and, given that most people attending hospital are in need of urgent care, they do not always have time to look around to see what the correct way is to pay for hospital parking.

I am sure that I am not alone in being issued with these outrageous fines.

I have written to my local MP and the chief executive of Chase Farm Hospital to raise what I feel is a genuine grievance.

A mandate for Cycle Enfield far from clear

I DO not find this letter easy to write. As a lifelong Labour supporter and a former leader of the Labour group on Enfield Council, I find myself lined up with MP David Burrows in hoping that the Mayor of London will withdraw funding for the ill-thought-out Cycle Enfield scheme.

The consultation undertaken by Mr Burrows got almost twice the number of responses from local residents than achieved by Enfield Council's consultation and it is no surprise that there was a large majority against the scheme.

It ill behoves Councillor Daniel Anderson to be rude about the MP's consultation and his comment that "we are treating this with the contempt it deserves" (Advertiser, January 13) is hardly the reaction one would expect from an elected politician who is supposed to be interested in what his electorate thinks.

He is reported as going on to say: "We have a mandate to deliver Cycle Enfield and it will be going ahead", which gives me no confidence that he intends to pay regard even to the council's own consultation.

Mr Anderson claims a mandate for Cycle Enfield. It is unclear to me on what basis this claim is made.

The 2014 Labour manifesto, which should be the basis of the council's mandate, has only a commitment to improve cycle facilities and refers to the creation of "Cycle Greenways". There is no mention of Cycle Enfield.

I am sure that the public would have more confidence in politicians if they were less economic with the truth.

Mr Anderson and his colleagues on the council should remember, "If you are in a hole stop digging" – and abandon Cycle Enfield forthwith.

It is worth noting that if the council really wants to encourage cycling for the same money a free bike could be given to every household in the borough and there would be no disruption.

Don't blame serious accidents on bus drivers

AS a bus driver, I do feel offended by the Green Party London Assembly Member Darren Johnson having a go at bus drivers in various London publications with regards to serious injuries and deaths involving London buses – "Blow a whistle on bad driving", (Advertiser, January 13).

Any death or injury is a tragedy, but what Mr Johnson does not inform the public is that in most cases, with the help of on-board CCTV, the bus drivers involved were cleared of any responsibility.

He would be better of putting his energy and resources into road safety for pedestrians.

The public very rarely use the crossing facilities provided. Many wear headphones or are looking at mobile devices as they cross roads and a large number of other drivers also wear headphones and look at mobile devices.

For some reason, pedestrians as well as vehicles will pull out and cross the path of buses, but not trucks – and I can only put this down to buses being big, red, bright and friendly looking.

Maybe Mr Johnson, before commenting any further on bus drivers should stand by the edge of any high street in London and Stop, Look and Listen.

Junior doctors right to strike

DESPITE a lack of proper coverage on the justified action taken by junior doctors to strike for better working conditions, the response from passers-by – be they drivers or pedestrians – showing their overwhelming support was something I have not experienced for a long time in many campaigns as fellow councillors and myself stood side by side with junior doctors outside North Middlesex University Hospital.

We all braved the weather to show our support for the junior doctors, who are concerned not only for themselves but also for the future of the NHS and to ensure the NHS remains as such and services are improved, not reduced.

This a campaign to safeguard the interest of patients and the future of the NHS.

I, like many others, had an appointment that day which was cancelled. I was informed the day before at 6pm and did not choose to complain about the doctors, but the instigators of this, none other than the present government.

Overworked and tired doctors can make mistakes at the expense of the patients. The government cannot see the dangers, or rather prefers not to understand and play politics with people's lives.

We live in a democratic society and people should feel free to express their anger and frustration on the efforts exercised by the present government to ruin the NHS step by step.

This is just not on.

If there is no settlement by Tuesday, January 26, then again I will be present giving my support to the junior doctors, come rain or shine, should they decide to strike again.

CCTV from night man disappeared was not tampered with, inquest told

By Julia Gregory

julia.gregory@nlhnews.co.uk

CCTV footage taken on the night a 31-year-old father-of-two disappeared had not been tampered with, a coroner has said.

A sealed bag containing footage from The Fox pub, in Green Lanes, Palmers Green, on the night Ambrose Ball went missing was opened at the inquest into his death last week.

The body of Mr Ball, from Tottenham, was found three months after he had disappeared in January 2015.

The footage was taken on the night he went missing in the early hours of January 24 last year following a car crash.

It was shown at the inquest after the sealed bag was opened at North London Coroner's Court on Friday.

Coroner Andrew Walker said Mr Ball's family had feared that footage had been "spliced".

"We can confirm that's not the case," said Mr Walker, who viewed the footage together with Mr Ball's mother Ruth Lovell and other relatives.

Further footage of Mr Ball's late-night visit to the FoodExpress convenience store, known as Daddio's, in Bowes Road, Arncliffe, was also shown at the inquest.

Mr Walker told the hearing: "There is no better evidence than the footage taken from a camera and sealed in a bag."

He said that he wanted to put the family's mind at rest.

"This has not been tampered [with] by anyone and it has not been altered," he said.

Mr Ball disappeared after his BMW collided with the central reservation in Watermead Way, near the junction with Sedge Road, in Tottenham, at about 3.10am.

One of the wheels came off the car, which came to a

Unexplained death: Father-of-two Ambrose Ball halt near Tottenham Marshes. Mr Ball's body was discovered in the River Lee three months later and the results of a post-mortem examination were inconclusive.

The investigating officer Detective Inspector Sharon Freeman-Woods, from Haringey police, told the inquest: "I'm absolutely satisfied that Ambrose left the public house, based on the CCTV taken."

She said that Mr Ball's movements were also traced on automatic number plate recognition and mobile phone cell site data.

Mr Ball's family quizzed her about the timing of missing person appeals put out by the Met Police.

They said that the appeals contained errors including the wrong date of his disappearance – ten days before he went missing.

DI Freeman-Woods said: "Yes, there were errors and I do apologise."

She told Mr Ball's family: "I was cross about those errors."

The inquest is scheduled to conclude today after Mr Ball's mother has given evidence.

Piano player Kate tunes up for her 100th birthday

By Julia Gregory

julia.gregory@nlhnews.co.uk

CENTENARIAN Kate Muller entertained guests at her birthday party by playing the piano.

Music enthusiast Mrs Muller was joined by her daughter Nadia at the gathering at the Honeysuckle House Care Home, in Oakthorpe Road, Palmers Green, on Friday.

Mayor of Enfield Patricia Ekechi also attended the celebrations and guests were entertained with songs from the 1940s, 1950s and 1960s.

Nadia said: "My mother loves the piano, that's definitely her thing. She likes to play light-hearted music. She played on her birthday and it was excellent."

Longevity runs in the family as Kate's mother Grete also reached 100 and her father Jona was 99 when he died.

Nadia said: "I really think genes have an awful lot to do with it."

"I used to say to mum when she was about 80, 'I think you'll live to be 100' - and she would tell me not to be ridiculous."

She added she did not know the secret to a long life, but her mother was not keen on taking medication and her diet was a "meat and potato" one.

Kate was born in Berlin, where her father Jona Woronowsky was a doctor. Although he managed to leave Germany just before the outbreak of World War II, the borders had been closed before Kate and her mother were able to leave.

ANNE-MARIE SANDERSON

Many happy returns: Kate Muller, who had her 100th birthday last week, with daughter Nadia

She moved to France after the war and met husband-to-be Albert. They married in Paris and Nadia was born in the French capital.

The couple later settled in New York and lived there for many years with Nadia, who has since forged a career in corporate sales and ran a bed and breakfast in Manhattan.

Her parents moved to the UK in the 1980s when Kate's parents, who had settled in Winchmore Hill, needed care. After Albert's death in 1982, Kate stayed on in the family home in Halstead Gardens and later met Cyril Martin. The couple were together until Mr Martin's death and attended church locally.

Pleasures: Members of Chickenshed Theatre company set for some of the joys of winter

Theatre to focus on comforts of winter

By Ruth McKee
ruth.mckee@nlhnews.co.uk

THE latest community initiative from an inclusive theatre company in the borough has been created with a cosy connection in mind.

In a bid to involve members of the local community in the work of Chickenshed Theatre, in Southgate, the artistic minds behind the company are eager to base a collaborative work around the Danish concept of hygge (pronounced hooga).

The idea of hygge is a particularly Nordic expression of what makes the long, cold, dark winter months not just endurable, but also pleasurable.

Wrapped-up in a woolly jumper in front of a crackling log fire, snuggled up under a duvet watching your favourite programme on TV, with welcoming family for a Christmas celebration, are all considered examples of what constitutes the sensation.

And using contributions from the community, no matter how small or seemingly insignificant, the group is aiming to devise an entirely new and original piece of theatre based on the concept of hygge.

By involving the community in the work, the directors of the theatre are hoping to make those living and working in the area feel a sense of closeness and togetherness that will cheer all concerned up throughout the winter months.

Submissions from residents in the borough and beyond have already flooded into Chickenshed with people contributing myriad versions of their own interpretations of the concept.

And whether it is a painting, a short story, a photograph, a hand-knitted jumper or a cleverly crafted lampshade, all creative input from the community will be woven into what will become the eventual performance piece that will be performed during Chickenshed's spring season.

One of the creative minds behind the idea of reaching out into the community, Louise Perry, head of performance at the theatre.

She says the concept of the new devised drama will be based on "the art of building sanctuary and community, of inviting closeness and paying attention to just what it is which makes us feel open-hearted and alive".

"Hygge happens when we commit to the pleasure of the present moment in its simplicity," she said. "It's there in the small rituals and gestures that we all can undertake to give everyday life value and meaning, that comfort us, make us feel at home, rooted and generous."

The deadline for contributing towards the eventual production passed on Saturday – but the artistic directors of the project say there will be even more community involvement during the coming months.

Wreckage: The scene of the accident in Enfield Town on Saturday morning

By Julia Gregory

julia.gregory@nlhnews.co.uk

A WOMAN was cut out of her car and treated for chest injuries and eight other people were hurt after a collision involving a bus and car in Enfield Town at the weekend.

Firefighters pulled the woman from a Smart car and she was rushed to hospital after the accident in London Road on Saturday morning.

A man who was suffering from neck pain was also taken to hospital, a London Ambulance Service spokesman said.

Four ambulance crews and a paramedic treated passengers from the W8 bus, which was travelling from Picketts Lock, Edmonton, to Chase Farm Hospital, in The Ridgeway, Enfield.

Seven people suffered less serious injuries including cuts and bruises and five of them were also taken to hospital.

Police closed the road and are investigating the circumstances surrounding the accident, which happened at about 7.30am near the junction with Cecil Road.

The LAS's deputy director of operations Kevin Brown said: "The first of our crews arrived in just over three minutes. They rapidly made an assessment and we declared a significant incident."

MP Osamor joins shadow cabinet in Labour reshuffle

By Ruth McKee

ruth.mckee@nlhnews.co.uk

EDMONTON MP Kate Osamor has been appointed to the front bench of the Labour Party.

Ms Osamor, who was elected to parliament at last year's general election, is now the junior shadow minister for women and equalities.

After Jeremy Corbyn won a landslide victory in the Labour leadership election in September, Ms Osamor was appointed as his Parliamentary Private Secretary. She had been one of the MPs who nominated him.

After schisms emerged in the Labour Party in December over extending British air strikes against so-called Islamic State from northern Iraq to Syria, Mr Corbyn has reshuffled his top team in a bid to encourage greater cohesion on the front bench.

He sacked shadow Europe minister Pat McFadden after the MP for Wolverhampton South East publicly criticised the leadership of the Labour Party.

Trident supporting Maria Eagle, MP for Garston and Halewood, was replaced as shadow defence minister by Emily Thornberry, MP for Islington South and Finsbury, who opposes renewing the multi-billion-pound nuclear weapons system.

The reshuffle sparked a series of resignations from junior positions on the front bench including Kevan Jones, MP for North Durham, who resigned as a shadow defence minister, Stephen Doughty, MP for Cardiff South, who was a shadow foreign minister, and shadow railways minister Jonathan Reynolds, MP for Stalybridge and Hyde.

Mr Osamor backed Mr Corbyn in voting against extending British air strikes against IS in Syria and she has also been vocal recently in campaigning for better healthcare for women detainees in Yarl's Wood immigration removal centre, in Bedfordshire.

Last year she spoke out in parliament over the treatment of black and ethnic minority users of mental health support services and she also voted to slash the VAT added to sanitary products for women.

She will join fellow shadow ministers for women Kate Green and Cat Smith.

Ms Osamor said she was "delighted" to accept the position.

She added: "Since I joined the House of Commons, I have been seeking to highlight in the chamber the disproportionate effect many government policies have had on black and minority ethnic communities and working-class women. I am looking forward to adding my voice to a strong team and working together to hold the government to account on equality issues."

Appeal over stabbing of man, 34

A STABBING victim is still in a serious condition in hospital after being attacked in Enfield Highway in the early hours of Monday, December 28.

Detectives have just released details of the stabbing and are appealing to anyone who may have witnessed the attack or has any information to get in touch.

The 34-year-old victim was attacked from behind and stabbed in the chest in the Green Street area at about 5.30am.

Although the victim's phone was taken after it fell out of his pocket, police officers do not know the motive for the attack.

The victim was taken by the London Ambulance Service to an east London hospital, where he remains in a serious but stable condition.

The suspect is a lone man. There is no further description.

Anyone who witnessed anything suspicious or has information that may help the investigation should call detectives from Enfield Major Crime Unit via 101.

Alternatively, to remain anonymous, call Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

"fish&chips@...Southgate Circus and its sister company fish&chips@...London Road are two of only four shops across the London boroughs to hold the Fish and Chip Quality Award." - NFFF 2016

Fish & Chips @ Southgate Circus Frying High With Quality Fish & Chip Award

Fish & Chips @ Southgate Circus is celebrating after being recognised with the prestigious National Federation of Fish Friers (NFFF) Fish & Chip Quality Award.

Fish & Chips @ Southgate Circus and its sister company Fish & Chips @ London Road are two of only four shops across the London boroughs to hold the Fish and Chip Quality Award. The award is also significant for Fish & Chips @ Southgate Circus as the shop is only just approaching its one year anniversary of being open.

The award identifies fish and chip outlets that serve the highest quality fish and chips following a thorough assessment of the premises, equipment, working practices, hygiene standards and management controls, along with the quality and taste of cooked fish and chips.

Fish & Chips @ Southgate Circus owners Dawn and John Phantis said "We are very pleased to receive this prestigious award. To be recognized as one of the top fish and chip shops by the NFFF is indeed an honour and a credit to our hardworking staff who I would like to offer my sincere thanks for their continued hard work and efforts to maintain our excellent reputation.

The award doesn't just represent the fish and chips we produce, but also the hard work and high quality produce our local suppliers provide us to work with."

The National Federation of Fish Friers (NFFF), the trade body that represents the nation's fish and chip shops, runs the scheme as a way of raising standards within the fish and chip trade and enhancing the profile of the industry.

The scheme is a way of rewarding and promoting shops that provide good quality products and high standards of hygiene, as well as friers who show a high level of competence.

To qualify, each shop has to go through an inspection by an NFFF Approved Assessor who assesses the shop's presentation, hygiene and cleanliness, staff training, equipment, frying and sales skills and most importantly the quality of the cooked product.

This award sets the new benchmark for quality within the industry. It will signal to the consumer that they can buy with confidence where the award is displayed, and it will encourage more outlets to raise their standards.

Each Fish and Chip Quality Award is valid for two years and retention is dependent on standards being maintained as validated by NFFF officials and appointed assessors.

NFFF Training and Accreditation Manager Richard Wardell explained: "The NFFF Fish & Chip Quality Award assessment is extremely comprehensive. Food safety is a key area that we examine together with other key aspects of the business including the preparation and cooking equipment, to the management of paperwork and the traceability of fish.

"Fish & Chips @ Southgate Circus clearly takes pride in where it sources its fish and potatoes from," said Richard. "Achieving the NFFF Fish & Chip Quality Award provides reassurance to customers that they are being served cooked food using high-quality ingredients."

Currently around 250 fish and chip outlets across the country have been recognised with the NFFF Fish & Chip Quality Award.

Pupils are putting best feet forward for memorial day

By Russ Lawrence

russ.lawrence@nlhnews.co.uk

THE moving story of how thousands of Jewish children escaped the genocide of Nazi Germany by finding safe haven in Britain will be re-enacted in dance by Enfield pupils next week.

Youngsters at Hazelbury Junior School, in Edmonton, will re-tell how nine months before the outbreak of World War II, 10,000 children from Germany, Austria, Czechoslovakia and Poland were rescued as part of the Kindertransport refugee effort.

Once in the UK they were placed in foster homes, hostels, schools and farms. Separated from their parents, many became the sole surviving members of their family after their loved ones were killed in the death camps.

The dance, Into the Arms of Others, is just one of the events taking place as part of the council's Holocaust Memorial Day on Wednesday at the Dugdale Centre, in London Road, Enfield Town.

The day marks 71 years since Russian troops liberated the notorious Auschwitz-Birkenau concentration camp in Poland in 1945.

What was discovered there exposed the true horror of the Nazi genocide and left the world shocked and revolted.

The day will also feature speeches by leading political and religious figures, as well as a performance by older students at Southgate School,

Holocaust remembered: Yasemin Brett in Sussex Way, and a film about the Darfur genocide in Sudan.

"This year's theme, Don't Stand By, recognises the supreme efforts made by brave people who risked their lives to help others to escape from Auschwitz and other death camps, or who have opposed repressive regimes in more recent genocides around the world including in Cambodia, Bosnia, Rwanda and Darfur," said Yasemin Brett, Enfield Council's cabinet member for community organisations.

"Our programme is a serious attempt to focus on the causes of genocide and tell the stories of those who did not stand by."

cycleenfield

It's about more than cycle lanes...

There are proposals to re-design some of Enfield's major roads.

One of these routes is the A1010 South –Hertford Road (Lincoln Road to Fairfield Road), the consultation is running until 12 February 2016.

What's on and what's coming

Tale of domestic life and strife drives them crazy

By Russ Lawrence

russ.lawrence@nlhnews.co.uk

BARELY an intelligible word is uttered in Crazy Glue, a play which uses physical theatrics and visual performance as a universal language anyone can understand.

There's little chance of the two actors who comprise its cast from fluffing their lines because there aren't any.

Gibberish and vocal sound effects replace dialogue, while silent film slapstick and Looney Tunes-style cartoon clowning combine with dance and mime to convey pain, love, angst and humour in an enchanting, yet tragic, tale of a couple's relationship.

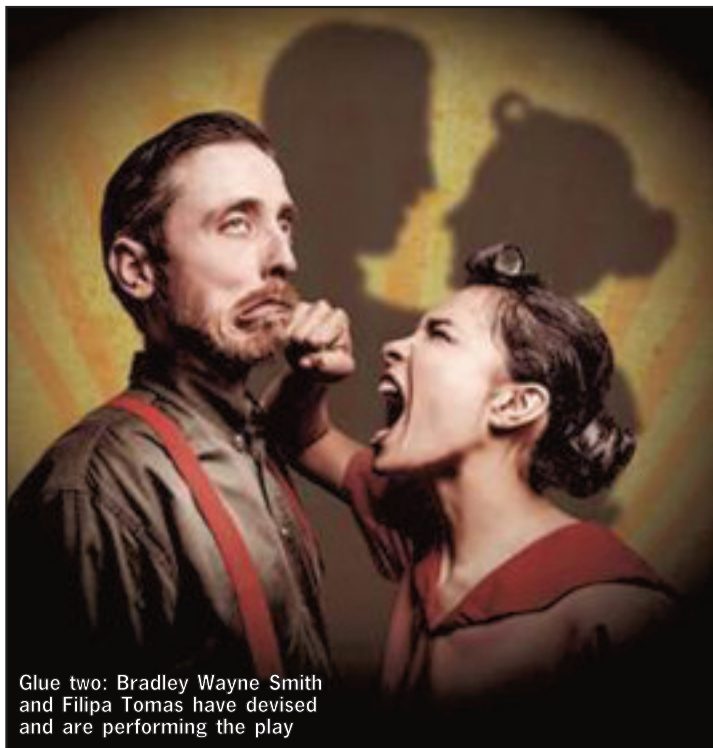

The drama unfolds in Single Shoe Productions' critically-acclaimed stage adaptation of an Etgar Keret short story at the Dugdale Centre, in London Road, Enfield Town, on Saturday.

It charts a couple's marriage – from blossoming romance, to wedded bliss – but when tragedy strikes and their longed-for baby dies in childbirth their heavenly marriage falls into a hell of their own making.

Can the eponymous pot of crazy glue, which appears to fix almost everything, from severed digits, to broken glasses, mend their relationship?

Devised and performed by Filipa Tomas and Bradley Wayne Smith, it creates a backdrop of domestic life in the middle of the 20th century with an evocative soundtrack of 1930s and 1940s' swing and ragtime.

There is plenty of comedy from the rubber-faced pair as they gibber away in a nonsense language and impressively imitate the sound of everything, from a squeaky tap, to the morning bathroom ritual of gargling, cleaning and flossing. But there are also plenty of painful and hard-hitting moments.

Glue two: Bradley Wayne Smith and Filipa Tomas have devised and are performing the play

"We wanted to create a piece that is playful, engaging and accessible to a universal audience and develop a theatrical language that blends the physicality of silent films with cartoon-like sound effects," said Filipa.

"When we paired this simplified language with complex themes, we were excited at how it allowed us to focus on sensitive subjects with honesty, openness and humour," she added.

Brad and Bale really go for broke

THE BIG SHORT (15, 130 mins)

A FOOL and his hard-earned money are soon parted and in 2008, many of us turned out to be unwitting fools when the mortgage crisis in America catalysed the collapse of financial institutions, resulting in an ice age of global austerity that has yet to thaw.

Bankers were demonised, political establishment passed bucks as if they were handling red-hot potatoes and hard-working families paid an eye-watering price.

The Wall Street meltdown doesn't sound like ripe fruit for a cocktail of potty-mouthed hilarity and heartbreaking drama, but Adam McKay, director of the Anchor-man films, begs to differ.

Stepping away from the dim-witted Will Ferrell comedies that have made his name, McKay draws inspiration from Michael Lewis's non-fiction account of the housing and credit bubble to dramatise the incredible true story of the men who made a killing by wagering against the US economy.

"While the whole world was having a big ol' party, a few outsiders and weirdos saw what no one else could," explains sharp-suited narrator Jared Vennett (Ryan Gosling), a bond salesman at Deutsche Bank with a keen nose for profits.

He is our wise-cracking guide to this high-pressure world of bulls, bears and multi-million dollar trades.

However, Jared is not the first person to spot impending doom.

That honour goes to quixotic hedge fund manager Michael Burry (Christian Bale).

"It's a time bomb...and I want to short it," Burry informs his incredulous boss (Tracy Letts) and bets against the housing market.

Retired: Brad Pitt plays Ben Rickert

Jared gets wind of the deal and follows suit, drawing in deeply cynical hedge fund manager Mark Baum (Steve Carell) and his team – Danny Moses (Rafe Spall), Porter Collins (Hamish Linklater) and Vinnie Daniel (Jeremy Strong).

Inexperienced investors Charlie Geller (John Magaro) and Jamie Shipley (Finn Wittrock) use personal ties to retired banker Ben Rickert (Brad Pitt) to orchestrate their own high-risk bets as financial authorities ignore warning signs and Lehman Brothers prepares to fall.

The Big Short is a blisteringly funny and provocative portrait of irresponsibility, fraud and gaudy excess, brought vividly to life by a superb ensemble cast.

Carell and Bale shine brightest in the glittering firmament, imbuing their socially awkward oddballs with vulnerability, guilt and regret.

McKay's film is acutely aware most of us don't speak the Wall Street lingo, so the writer-director cutely interrupts the wheeler dealing with glossy edutainment spots.

Wolf Of Wall Street star Margot Robbie sexes up subprime mortgages while sipping champagne in a bubble bath, celebrity chef Anthony Bourdain explains a collateralised debt obligation (CDO) using leftover seafood and actress and singer Selena Gomez makes sense of synthetic CDOs over a game of blackjack.

We might not always keep up with McKay's dazzling film and its rapid-fire, whipsmart dialogue, but by the end credits, we're not far behind.

ACCURATE VALUATIONS IN ENFIELD

The main factors that affect the price achieved for your home are likely to be size, location and fittings. However, there are innumerable other variations that can add significant value.

Valuing properties in West Enfield is not like valuing properties elsewhere.

There are thousands of different styles and in some roads every other property is quite different to the next. The knowledge to appreciate these differences can only be built up over time.

At Ian Gibbs, our valuers have built up that knowledge with over 35 years of selling properties in the EN1/EN2 area and that experience heightens the chance of you realising the full potential of your greatest financial asset.

Sit back and enjoy the ride

By Matt Joy

IT'S brand new territory for Ford as it seeks to muscle in on the compact premium sector with the Mondeo Vignale.

More than just a trim designation, Vignale models sit at the top of the Mondeo range. They have unique exterior and interior elements and are designed to offer superior comfort.

What's more, they are finished in a special area of Ford's Valencia factory, with additional layers of paint and higher quality standards – and you can only buy one from selected Ford dealers.

You'll get a higher standard of service, too, with free collection and pick-up from a dedicated dealer.

On the outside, there are unique alloy wheels, a gloss finish to the grille and pillars and some extra chrome detailing, plus those unmissable badges.

The Mondeo Vignale is also available in just four colours – black, silver, white and Nocciola, brown to you and me.

It's a handsome machine, arguably more so in estate form, and while the Vignale extras do make it feel a little more posh, there's no denying it's a Mondeo.

It's very early days for this sub-brand and only time will tell if buyers respond to its perceived elevation over the standard car.

It gets better on the inside. As the Vignale sits above the Titanium X in the Mondeo range, it is positively groaning with kit.

There's a big Sony audio system with nav and Ford's SYNC2 system, active noise cancelling and ambient lighting. You can even have ventilated massage seats.

There's also leather – tons of the stuff. The seats have their own pattern (designed to echo that of the front grille) and it's on the dashtop, the doors and even on the centre armrest. It's here that you begin to feel you're getting something for the additional outlay, although obviously it is just as practical as a regular Mondeo.

As you'd expect, the Vignale is standard Mondeo underneath – but that's no bad thing.

What has changed is that the suspension has been tweaked to deliver a smoother ride, while there's acoustic side glass as standard and the noise cancelling system to keep the cabin hushed.

With the most-popular 2.0 TDCI unit and the powershift transmission taking care of gearshifts, piloting the Mondeo Vignale is a genuinely relaxing and sumptuous experience.

The ride may be smoother, but it still has the Ford sharpness of response while the reduction in noise levels is a welcome improvement.

While the German competition generally goes for a sporty feel, the Mondeo Vignale is comfort-oriented, which potentially gives it an advantage on UK roads.

A look at the spec sheet makes sense of the price. The options list is very small, indeed, while the standard spec runs to that sophisticated Sony system including sat nav, a rear view camera, ambient lighting and a fully electric driver's seat. A complete leather interior and the special alloy wheels come with it, too.

It's worth noting that the key German rivals are very close on price, but if you equalise the specification, a big price gap opens up.

Buyers do like high-spec Mondeos. The stats show that the Titanium X simply isn't enough for some.

It's also a useful higher step for people climbing the company car ladder and Ford is clear about most of its sales coming in this way.

There's also a hybrid version if you want the petrol electric combination and the option list is refreshingly brief.

CONDITIONS OF ACCEPTANCE FOR ALL ADVERTISEMENTS

Orders are accepted by the Publishers subject to the Standard Conditions agreed between the Newspaper Society and the Institute of Practitioners in Advertising. Save that:

1. Advertisements are accepted on the conditions that (a) descriptions relating to goods are accurate and in no way contravene the provisions of the Trade Descriptions Act 1968, and the Fair Trading Act 1973, and (b) the copy complies with the British Code of Advertising Practice. Advertisements offering credit or hire facilities must conform to the Consumer Credit (Advertisements) Regulations 1989.
2. Classified Advertisers offering goods or service of a business, commercial or trade nature will, at the discretion of the Publishers, be deemed "Trade Advertisers", and as such, must include their names in advertisements. A telephone number is an optional addition to these requirements and not an alternative.
3. To comply with the Business Advertisements (Disclosure) Order 1977, Trade Advertisers must make it clear that they are selling goods in the course of business, either by content, format, size or place of the advertisement or by including words such as "trade", "dealer", "agent", "wholesaler", "(f)" etc. in the advertisement.
4. The Publishers accept no liability whatsoever for any loss or damage however caused arising out of:
- (a) Any error, inaccuracy or omission in the printing or publishing of any advertisement;
- (b) Any failure to publish an advertisement on the day / date or day / dates specified by the advertiser; or
- (c) Any delay in forwarding or omission to forward replies to box numbers to the Advertiser.
4. The Publishers will endeavour to publish advertisements on the day / date or day / dates specified by the Advertiser but insertion days / dates cannot be guaranteed.
5. Where shrinkage of advertisement occurs for whatever reasons the advertisement will be charged to the nearest full centimetre. This will NOT apply to the full-page advertisements, which remain full pages even after shrinkage.
6. The Publishers reserve the right to reject an advertisement or to vary it in any way they deem fit, at any time before publication, whether or not the advertisement has already been accepted for publication.
7. Whilst every effort is made to minimise errors in advertisements, mistakes do sometimes occur. The Publishers or their agents accept no liability for errors in advertisements, whether of any errors immediately. Responsibility cannot be accepted for more than one incorrect insertion. Typographical or minor changes, which do not affect the value of the advertisement, are not quality for republication or allowances.
8. All gross advertising rates (except classified lineage and semi-display) are subject to and include a 0.1% Advertising Standards Board of Finance surcharge, payable by the advertisers to help finance the self-regulatory control system administered by the Advertising Standards Authority.
9. All rates quoted are subject to VAT at the rate currently in force at the time the advertisement appears.
10. Should the rate for advertisements be altered the price for remaining insertions shall be revised accordingly or the publishers shall have the right to cancel the unexpired portion of the order.
11. The placing of an advertisement order will be deemed an acceptance of these conditions.
12. Account facilities are granted at the discretion of the Company.
13. All accounts must be settled within the terms agreed by the Company and the Customer.
- (1) Should an advertiser be in breach of the agreed terms, the publisher shall be entitled to levy a 10% surcharge on the value of the whole debt in respect of accounts with terms of less than 30 days, and any discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed.
- (2) Regular monthly accounts that are in breach of the agreed terms will pay an interest rate of 6% above the current bank of England base rate for each month that the account is overdue and discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed. Should Legal action be required the interest will be charged in accordance with the County Court Act 1984.
14. Where an advertiser instructs / appoints an advertising agent to act on their behalf, the advertiser will remain jointly and severally liable for payment in respect for an advertisement (ment) should the appointed agent fail to pay. For the avoidance of doubt, the agent acts for the advertiser and not for the publisher with the agent being responsible for notifying the advertiser of this liability.
15. All queries must be notified, preferably in writing to the accounts department of the publisher within 7 days of the invoice date.
16. All digital services are maintained in partnership with the publishers' hosting service providers. Every effort is made to ensure the continuity of these services, but some occasional technical downtime beyond the publishers control may occur. The publisher and its associated companies shall be under no liability if the production and distribution of web services is delayed or prevented by any cause beyond the control of the publisher.
17. The Publisher may provide voucher copies for published advertisements in electronic form only subject to certain criteria. Further information is available on request.
18. The copyright of advertisements produced wholly or partially by the Publishers belongs to the Publishers. Advertisers may not reproduce such advertisements without the Publishers' consent.
- Box Numbers
Boxes are open for the receipt of bona fide answers and are not available for distribution of trade canvassing matter. Original testimonials, goods, cash, cash stamps or payments of any kind must not be enclosed. A box Number and postal address are charged as part of the advertisement, i.e. Box No., centre address. There is no charge for forwarding replies. Box numbers alone are not available for use in "Trade" advertisements, other than Employment and Business Opportunities.
- Holiday & Travel Category
All advertising must contain the name of the advertiser, phone number alone are not permitted.
- Data Protection
The service you have requested may require us to carry out a credit search at a credit-referencing agency, which will record the fact that a search has been made. We may need to share your information with other lenders and credit reference agencies. However, we will only use the information from these searches to make credit-granting decisions and, if necessary, for fraud prevention or tracing debtors.
- Data controller will use your information for administration and analysis. We may share your information with other Tindle Group Newspaper companies or carefully selected third parties. We, or they, may send you details of other goods and services, which may be of interest to you. The information may be provided by letter, telephone or other reasonable means of communication. Calls may be recorded or monitored for training purposes.
- Special conditions apply with regard to the advertising of adult services, which are outlined to all persons submitting such advertisements.

In print... ...or Online

We'll give you the best of both worlds...every week, all week!

In this rapidly moving technological age people are finding new ways to advertise, especially online via the internet. But contrary to what online sites are saying and common assumptions, print advertising is not dead. There are still benefits and disadvantages to both methods and the best way to succeed is to find a vehicle that covers both bases - and that's where we come in!

The Benefits of print advertising:

1. Print adverts last longer and will be seen often.
2. They will be seen by a large number of people and have the ability to hit a specific audience.
3. There is a more creative potential with print advertising.
4. There is a positive perception of newspaper advertising - it will encourage people to think the client is serious.

The Benefits of online advertising:

1. The advert content can be easily updated.
2. It's online 24/7, 12 months a year, all round the world.
3. A massive audience, with all ages now online.
4. Very quick response - you can be receiving candidates hours after posting your advert.

The Advertiser series of newspapers is distributed every week and the latest editions can be found on our website at www.enfield-today.co.uk

CONDITIONS OF ACCEPTANCE FOR ALL ADVERTISEMENTS

Orders are accepted by the Publishers subject to the Standard Conditions agreed between the Newspaper Society and the Institute of Practitioners in Advertising. Save that:

1. Advertisements are accepted on the conditions that (a) descriptions relating to goods are accurate and that they are selling goods in the course of business either by content, format, the Fair Trading Act 1973, and (b) the copy complies with the British Code of Advertising Practice.
Advertisements offering credit or hire facilities must conform to the Consumer Credit Advertisements Regulations 1989.
2. 'Classified' Advertisers offering goods or service of a business, commercial or trade nature will, at the discretion of the Publishers, be deemed 'Trade Advertisers', and as such, must include their names in advertisements. A telephone number is an optional addition to these requirements and not an alternative.
3. To comply with the Business Advertisements (Disclosure) Order 1977, Trade Advertisers must make it clear that they are selling goods in the course of business either by content, format, size or place of the advertisement or by including words such as 'trade', 'dealer', 'agent',
'wholesaler', '(T)' etc. in the advertisement.
4. The Publishers accept no liability whatsoever for any loss or damage however caused arising out of:
(a) Any error, inaccuracy or omission in the printing or publishing of any advertisement;
(b) Any failure to publish an advertisement on the day / date or day / dates specified by the advertiser; or
(c) Any delay in forwarding or omission to forward replies to box numbers to the Advertiser.
4. The Publishers will endeavour to publish advertisements on the day / date or day / dates specified by the Advertiser but insertion days / dates cannot be guaranteed.
5. Where shrinkage of advertisement occurs for whatever reasons the advertisement will be charged to the nearest full centimetre. This will NOT apply to the full-page advertisements, which remain full pages even after shrinkage.
6. The Publishers reserve the right to reject an advertisement or to vary it in any way they deem fit, at any time before publication, whether or not the advertisement has already been accepted for publication.
7. Whilst every effort is made to minimise errors in advertisements, mistakes do sometimes occur. Advertisers or their agents should therefore check their advertisements and inform us of any errors immediately. Responsibility cannot be accepted for more than one incorrect insertion. Typographical or minor changes, which do not affect the value of the advertisement, do not qualify for republication or allowances.
8. All gross advertising rates (except classified lineage and semi-display) are subject to and include a 0.1% Advertising Standards Board of Finance surcharge, payable by the advertisers to help finance the self-regulatory control system administered by the Advertising Standards Authority.
9. All rates quoted are subject to VAT at the rate currently in force at the time the advertisement appears.
10. Should the rate for advertisements be altered the price for remaining insertions shall be revised accordingly or the publishers shall have the right to cancel the unexpired portion of the order.
11. The placing of an advertisement order will be deemed an acceptance of these conditions.
12. Account facilities are granted at the discretion of the Company.
13. All accounts must be settled within the terms agreed by the Company and the Customer.
(1) Should an advertiser be in breach of the agreed terms, the publisher shall be entitled to levy a 10% surcharge on the value of the whole debt in respect of accounts with terms of less than 30 days, and any discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed.
- (2) Regular monthly accounts that are in breach of the agreed terms will pay an interest rate of 6% above the current bank of England base rate for each month that the account is overdue and discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed. Should legal action be required the interest will be charged in accordance with the County Court Act 1984.
14. Where an advertiser instructs / appoints an advertising agent to act on their behalf, the advertiser will remain jointly and severally liable for payment in respect of an advertisement(s) should the appointed agent fail to pay. For the avoidance of doubt, the agent acts for the advertiser and not for the publisher with the agent being responsible for notifying the advertiser of this liability.
15. All queries must be notified, preferably in writing to the accounts department of the publisher within 7 days of the invoice date.
16. All digital services are maintained in partnership with the publishers' hosting service providers. Every effort is made to ensure the continuity of these services, but some occasional technical downtime beyond the publishers control may occur. The publisher and its associated companies shall be under no liability if the production and distribution of web services is delayed or prevented by any cause beyond the control of the publisher.
17. The Publisher may provide voucher copies for published advertisements in electronic form only subject to certain criteria. Further information is available on request.
18. The copyright of advertisements produced wholly or partially by the Publishers belong to the Publishers. Advertisers may not reproduce such advertisements without the Publishers' consent.
- Box Numbers
Boxes are open for the receipt of bona fide answers and are not available for distribution of trade canvassing matter. Original testimonials, goods, cash, cash stamps or payments of any kind must not be enclosed. A box Number and postal address are charged as part of the advertisement, i.e. Box No. centre address. There is no charge for forwarding replies.
Box numbers alone are not available for use in 'Trade' advertisements, other than Employment and Business Opportunities.
- Holiday & Travel Category
All advertising must contain the name of the advertiser, phone number alone are not permitted.
- Data Protection
The service you have requested may require us to carry out a credit search at a credit referencing agency, which will record the fact that a search has been made. We may need to share your information with other lenders and credit reference agencies. However, we will only use the information from these searches to make credit-granting decisions and, if necessary, for fraud prevention or tracing debtors.
- Data controller will use your information for administration and analysis. We may share your information with other Tindle Group Newspaper companies or carefully selected third parties.
We, or they, may send you details of other goods and services, which may be of interest to you. The information may be provided by letter, telephone or other reasonable means of communication. Calls may be recorded or monitored for training purposes.
Special conditions apply with regard to the advertising of adult services, which are outlined to all persons submitting such advertisements.

ROSE THRILLED BY SPURS' RESPONSE

By Dominique Stafford

sport.enfield@nlhnews.co.uk

DANNY ROSE hailed the way Tottenham Hotspur responded to conceding the opening goal after they romped to an ultimately emphatic 4-1 victory at home to Sunderland in the Premier League on Saturday.

Looking to bounce back from their defeat at the hands of Leicester City on Wednesday last week, Spurs initially fell behind at White Hart Lane as Patrick van Aanholt put the visitors in front.

But Christian Eriksen equalised prior to the interval, before the hosts cut loose in the second half as Mousa Dembele, Eriksen and Harry Kane all found the net to help Tottenham consolidate fourth place in the table.

And left-back Rose, who was recalled to the starting line-up for the match, felt that it was crucial that Spurs had managed to come from behind and end up securing maximum points.

"It was a great response to going 1-0 down," he said. "If you want to be where we are in the table and even higher then you have to show consistency and great bounce-backability from upsets."

"In the first half against Everton we were brilliant and in the first half against Leicester in the FA Cup we were brilliant, but in both instances it was 1-1 at half-time. Again in this match we were brilliant in the first half but were only drawing at the interval."

"We need to put teams away in the first half to make the game easier in the second half and we'll get a lot more space if we do that. But we had an upset against Leicester in the league on Wednesday and we've shown a great ability to respond."

"We're all over the moon with how the season is going but if there's a message that we can all take from it so far then it's to not get carried away and make sure we take each game as it comes. It is exciting at the club at the moment but it's far too early to talk about the season – there are four months to go and another 16 games."

Key triumph: Danny Rose was thrilled by Tottenham's victory over Sunderland on Saturday

Head coach Mauricio Pochettino was equally pleased with how the side reacted to falling behind, and felt that Eriksen's equaliser just before the interval proved to be the key moment in the match.

"It was very important to score quickly and go in at 1-1 at half-time," he said. "In the second half we had the capacity to get the result and we fully deserved the win."

"In football it's always about confidence, and when we scored the second goal the team was lifted in confidence and energy."

"After that it was 4-1 and maybe we deserved to score once or twice more. I'm very happy. It was a very important reaction to the defeat against Leicester and we're very pleased with that."

"It was another great performance from the team. We had a lot of shots on target. I am very pleased with the last few games. The belief is fantastic. We have a very good, strong squad and this match was a good example of that."

Skolars bolster squad with trio of signings

THE London Skolars have further bolstered their squad by signing three outside backs in the past week.

The rugby league club have been busy putting their squad together ahead of the new Kingstone Press Championship One season, and they have now added Jimmy Morgan, Lameck Juma and Andy Winfield to their ranks.

Morgan began playing rugby league for Hunslet Warriors in his native Yorkshire, but moved south for university and enjoyed a spell with the London Broncos.

Juma first signed for the Skolars in the 2012 season and played a few games, primarily as a winger, before switching codes to rugby union – but he has now decided to go back to rugby league and has rejoined the club for a second spell.

Full-back Winfield has moved to the club from Championship One rivals Coventry Bears, for whom he scored a hat-trick against the Skolars last season.

"Mainly a winger, Jimmy has good speed and an extremely high work rate," a club spokesman said. "Fans should be sure to watch out for Lameck's immense strength and power – he is exceptionally difficult to stop."

"Andy is another player with plenty of pace, providing great competition for places. They are all fit and ready to feature in our upcoming friendlies."

Meanwhile, Friday sees the Skolars facing their first pre-season match as they host a Wigan Warriors XIII at the Honourable Artillery Company

Ground in the city of London (2pm).

Wigan star and England international Sam Tomkins will be guest speaker at the pre-match lunch, and a record crowd is expected for the contest.

Skolars' chief executive Hector McNeil said: "The inaugural Capital Challenge was held in 2004, and since then we've put on 12 great events – going from strength to strength each year."

"This will be the third year that Wigan have been involved and we've seen the event grow in popularity, with record sales of tickets and lunch places this year."

"It's a great way for us as a club to connect with our sponsors and community and a wonderful opportunity to showcase rugby league in London."

Borough claim a last-gasp victory

HARINGEY BOROUGH'S climb away from the lower reaches of the Ryman League Division One North table continued on Saturday as they snatched a last-gasp 3-2 victory at Witham Town.

For much of the early stages of the campaign it looked as if Borough were in real danger of suffering immediate relegation back to the Essex Senior League as they struggled to come to terms with playing at the higher level.

But a dramatic transformation in their form has seen them pull away from the danger zone, and this latest triumph has left Borough in 18th place in the table – seven points clear of the bottom two.

An ultimately thrilling encounter at Witham got off to a slow start, with little of note happening before the visitors took the lead through an Ishmail Kamara strike on 36 minutes.

That goal remained all that separated the teams until the contest suddenly came to life in the last 15 minutes – with Ryan Charles putting the hosts back on level terms with a fine shot on 75 minutes.

Borough held firm though and restored their advantage with five minutes remaining as Scott Olumide's cross-shot from distance ended up in the net.

Any thoughts that this goal would prove to be decisive were quickly dispelled as Witham grabbed a second equaliser, Tom Richards' fierce shot flying high into the net with time running out.

However, the visitors were not to be denied and they made sure of maximum points deep in stoppage time when Rakim Richards' long-range effort sailed through the arms of keeper Harry Palmer on its way into the net to spark wild celebrations.

Haringey Borough entertain Wroxham on Saturday (3pm), before hosting Thamesmead Town on Tuesday (7.45pm).
